Clean junk files to free up disk space. Junk files may be the result of: deleting, copying, overwriting, renaming, not responding to requests from the operating system, failing to close an application, or the operating system may create them when you move files or start new programs. Once these files are removed, your system will have more storage space available. To use this utility, you will need to install the program to your computer. After installation, you can scan your hard drive for clean up and cleanup tasks. You can even specify an individual program or files to clean up. After the clean up task is completed, the application will create a log, which is saved to the desktop. You can print the report in the format that you wish. With this utility, you can keep your hard drive in good condition and even enjoy the use of your computer more. Usage After installing the software, you can start it by running Disk Cleanup. In the Disk Cleanup dialog, click the Run button. In the dialog, select the drive that has problems and then select Cleanup. To specify files to clean up, in the list that opens, you can select the files or folders to clean up. After you have specified the files to clean up, click Start. If the program encounters a difficulty while cleaning up, you can find out more information by clicking Help.
