A: One of my friends did what you did for me and it solved the problem. Good that you got a tool to fix. Have a good day. Just type in the search bar: appamanger.exe and press enter. The present disclosure is related generally to a transfer apparatus and a method of transferring a pneumatic transfer tool, for example, to a template tool. The present disclosure is further related to a method of transferring a textile pneumatic transfer tool to an embroidery machine. Embroidery machines typically include embroidery frame assemblies which are adapted to embroider embroidery designs onto a substrate. An embroidery machine may also include various additional features. For example, an embroidery machine may include a section or slot for accepting a pneumatic transfer tool, such as, a pneumatic loading tool for inserting a substrate into the embroidery machine. A pneumatic loading tool may be physically formed of a tool body and a tool arm. The tool arm may include a first end having a threaded rotary actuator. A connector is rotatably attached to the tool body for engaging the threaded rotary actuator. The threaded rotary actuator may be used to rotatably move the connector such that the threaded rotary actuator engages a first thread that is permanently attached to the connector. The connector may also be moved into and out of the tool body, through use of the threaded rotary actuator. The tool body may have a second end. The second end may include a first slot that engages the first thread of the connector to prevent disengagement. The first slot may have a first shape so that as the tool arm is rotated, the first slot engages a thread on the tool arm to hold the connector in place relative to the tool body. A second slot may also be formed in the tool body, such that the second slot engages a thread on the connector and the tool arm. The second slot may be able to receive a second thread that is permanently attached to the connector and the tool arm. When the tool arm is rotated, the connector is drawn into the tool body. Once the connector is completely inserted into the tool body, a first thread may be removed from the first slot. The first slot may then be placed in alignment with the second slot to engage the second thread. An additional thread may then be placed through the second slot and into the second thread to prevent disengagement
