Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a sheet mounting apparatus, more particularly to a sheet mounting apparatus which is capable of readily mounting many sheets one by one on a tray. 2.

Description of the Related Art Conventionally, when a multiple number of sheets are stored in a storage compartment, these sheets are required to be mounted on a tray one by one, which requires much labor, and hence causes a problem of being cumbersome and time-consuming. A sheet mounting apparatus is disclosed in Japanese Patent Unexamined Publication No. 9-194245, in which the tray is moved downwardly from an elevation position, and when the tray is completely lowered, a lock is opened to set the tray at a reduced height. However, this apparatus has a problem in that it is troublesome to open and close the lock of the tray. AP TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — The Arizona Diamondbacks are regretting their decision to Campana, a ninth-round pick of the Diamondbacks in 2003, started 10 games at second base last season and made a number of tough plays. "I feel like Tony is one of the premier players in our game," Diamondbacks manager Torey Lovullo said. "I think he's going to be a terrific addition in our clubhouse. I love the big bat that he brings to
