Ever wanted a dice roller that can play any game you want? That helps you keep all the results in one handy place, and even has custom dice? Do you love playing tabletop RPG games? Ever wanted to roll some dice in your favourite RPG, but you don't own a suitable set? Are you jealous of your friends who get to play with custom dice in their games? Well, Sophie's Dice can help! Read on. Rolling Dice with Sophie's Dice In Sophie's Dice, roll any number of any kind of die, and store your results in a spreadsheet. You can do one, a few or many rolls, and collect your results in any order in any column you like! Then you can drop the entire sheet (and all your roll data) into a new spreadsheet, or keep it, or even just email it to yourself. [...] For the average game, one or a few rolls will do. But you may want to roll out of 100 (if your game's rules allow you to!), to simulate a long adventure! You can even roll 10-sided dice if you want a cool, stylised representation of a die. [...] You might also want to collect the results of rolls in a way that goes beyond the usual rolling of a single die. [...] In that case, you need to calculate multiple results at once, and make custom dice that show more than one. [...] These are called "Rolling Groups", and are explained in Chapter 6 of the User Guide. There are also many other kinds of dice that can be rolled. For example, you can roll all dice of a particular weight, or all non-negative dice with a particular number of faces. [...] In addition, dice have sides that show up on rolls, as well as numbers that appear. The numbers on a die can be blank, and even customised. In many games, you can roll standard dice and also specialised dice. For example, d100, d20 etc... You can also use standard dice together with specialised dice: [...] In short, you can have a simple 6-sided dice, plus a specialised 7-sided dice, plus a d100, plus a d20, plus a d6, plus a d4, plus a d2. [...] You can even use virtual dice to make custom dice, with images and audio that will help you role-play.

Run Away SkyDancer

Your goal is to be the first player to gain 21 points (a complete mahjong set). Play against the computer (3 cpu players) or with your friends (all 4 players). You can win a game by simply accumulating the most points. If you accumulate the most points, your opponent will pay you to go out! On the other hand, if you have nothing to pay, you will have to "pay" your opponent to go out! You do not have to wait until the end of the game to play. You can also play only from the card deck. In that case, your goal is simply to win the game. Points are accumulated in the following way: Empty cell → 1 point. Game automatically starts when a player's hand gains 21 points. As soon as one player has 21 points, they are free to remove tiles from the board. They may remove tiles from their hand, tiles from the remainder of the board or may even remove their cards from the deck. After removing tiles, all players must draw a tile and position it next to the empty tile on the table. The player may not use their own hand and must use an adjacent free tile. If a player has a tile that matches one of their cards, they may use the tile to form a pair (two cards are removed from their hand). They may not "capture" tiles from other players or the remainder of the table. As soon as the empty tile is surrounded by matching tiles (a pair, two pairs, three or four on the board), all the tiles will be removed from the game. This round is called "Mahjong". You can change tiles: - Add tiles to your hand - Replace tiles with tiles from your hand - Delete tiles from your hand Tiles that are removed from the game are replaced with tiles you have drawn. The remaining tiles are placed in a counter-clockwise direction around the empty tile (end-game tiles are kept on the table; 2 tiles in front of the empty tile, then 1 tile and finally an empty tile). You may only remove tiles that are adjacent to the empty tile. You must remove a tile and place it next to the empty tile for it to be removed from the game. If you are the first player to win or if the game ends in a draw, you win. Otherwise, you lose. To improve your mahjong game, you can: - play more - play against the computer - play with friends - choose to
