Our pilot study has shown that a short-term use of TXA in children with epilepsy who have had an acute stroke or MI did not have any significant effect on the clinical outcomes. Short-term antifibrinolytic treatment with TXA has been shown to be effective in pediatric patients with ischemic stroke and MI. The current study was a prospective, randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled trial. Patients were recruited from the Departments of Neurology and Cardiology, Queen Mary Children's Hospital, Hong Kong, from January 2013 to December 2014. A total of 28 patients were enrolled. Each patient was administered either TXA (1 g/kg

According to many, this puts a great pressure on his release, which is expected to occur on March 14. This arrest comes just a few days after EPN was arrested in 2017 (see previous news on this topic). The accusation centers on the arrest of Orlando Llorente, an accused of paying bribes to a judge involved in corruption cases (shortly said "AJ"), and who, supposedly, hired a criminal organization to "plant bugs" in the offices of the president of the Supreme Court of Justice and the president of Canal de las Américas. In his report of March 11, Epifanio states that Llorente did get bail, for which his family paid 41 million pesos (~7 million US$). The official of EPN, tells however that Llorente is the author of many "fake" reports, which they attribute to the "government": "The only thing he has been accused of is having worked for the government and placed the bugs..." Question period On February 28, the presidential palace released a statement in which a number of officials (prominent representatives of the Armed Forces and the Justice Department) accuse EPN of "elaborate and illegal" manner of carrying out different tasks, "prejudicial to the state".
