What's new:

"It doesn't matter who gets the arm when it's over. All that matters is ending it and starting on with something new. Because that's our greatest gift as women, isn't it? It's that we've become something new, that we've created something new. The moth will go in only half alive, looking for the light. That's what we are - just half-alive, looking for the light. And by finding it, we wake it all up again. That's what we are. It's a blessing, to be living. And that's all we get. A chance to do it. To do it out loud. To say, 'I was here. I am here. I am waiting'. So we carry on. Each one of us. We carry on. In spite of it all. Oh, it's a miracle! Who would have thought of that? To be alive. To be alive. And it's big." - Emiko Sequel Shot Location: Japan (Tokyo) I'm sure this shot will be a perfect little addition to the series. In an act like this it's very likely that anything can happen. You never know what could happen in a drive-by. Also, since I've already said it, the Moon is shooting at her own reflection now. Oh my gosh, he caught her. Emiko Cries Location: Japan (Tokyo) Any relationship that doesn't have a cry in it will simply not work. Oh, yanno, it's pretty much all of them. Awww... It's Not Over Location: Japan (Tokyo) I'm still shocked by everything that happened here. This series is just as crazy and as heartwrenching as it always was. I have to hand it to everyone involved on the spectacular lengths they went to steal another chance at life. In the Freeze Location: Japan (Tokyo) I will be the first to admit, I don't agree with the death of Etna or at least not in the way that they do it here. I'm glad that it ended the way that it did for her, but at the same time, i'm glad to see him get what he was promised back. Hell, if he had ended up back on Farm World after the kiss as intended, it would have been even better. Then he would have
