Presumptive GOP nominee Donald Trump has successfully, but needlessly, called into question the integrity of a federal judge hearing a case against Trump University. Of course, the Republican Party has an almost history of doing so. The GOP was regularly calling for the impeachment of Bill Clinton throughout the 1990s. They also made mincemeat of President George H.W. Bush's judicial nominees. The GOP is now all in on this Trump-U fakery. Republican Sens. Mike Lee and Lisa Murkowski just used procedural tricks to slow down the Trump-U suit. They are using the same tack they took to stall President Obama's SCOTUS nominee. Chris Hayes doesn't think the GOP is simply trying to block President Obama's SCOTUS nominee because of that. It's not about the SCOTUS nominee. The GOP is trying to do the same thing they did during the Bush administration in hopes of blocking President Clinton's nominee to the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals. The GOP thinks it's OK to be attacking President Obama's judicial nominees because the GOP can back up its actions with the promise of President Trump.

News-Archive A Fargo woman is facing a charge of operating while intoxicated after police said she crashed her car into a farm tractor. Police said the crash happened about 5:45 a.m. Saturday at the intersection of 13th Avenue East and 24th Street. Police said the 49-year-old woman ran into the intersection and smashed the front of her 2001 Ford Fusion into the front end of a 2008 Skoda tractor pulling a combine and trailer. The driver of the tractor was not injured, but the woman was badly injured and taken by ambulance to the Cass County Hospital. Police said the woman remained in serious condition as of Sunday afternoon. The Fargo Police Department said the incident will be investigated by the Criminal Investigation Unit. The Fargo Police Department urges anyone with information on this case to call the CID at 701-241-2224 or text tips to CRIMES (274637).

Q: Wander rage not working Having some issues with the ranged weapon. Basically, when activated the character will attack the nearest target in the range. In the case the character takes damage, it's reduced to half the incoming damage. Using the attack key, the character takes damage straight away, so there's no issue with receiving damage from the attack. It seems like any of the following states cause this, but I'm not sure why. While in the middle of a riot, using melee. While in the middle of a ranged attack, holding down the attack key, and the character is stunned or knocked unconscious. While in the middle of a ranged attack, holding down the attack key, and the character is receiving a healing effect. In the middle of a ranged attack and the character gets "wander rage" by shouting 'Wander'. I also find it strange that the wanders rage and melee are tied. It's very hard to activate after getting enraged. A: Wander rage acts as a temporary melee weapon. You do not attack as a wanderer (in the middle of a ranged attack, you attack and do more damage), but you use melee attacks (with a damage multiplier) and when you lose rage (caused by taking hits or getting stunned/knocked unconscious), you cannot attack (and your rage goes up). If you are a wanderer (in the middle of a ranged attack) and do not intend to attack, shout wander
