Rhythms [32|64bit] [Latest-2022]

BassDrum: Rhythms has 7 different bassdrums. The first sound is called kickdrum2 The next one is just an Echo. If you tap the kickdrum2 with the synth trigger it will play a chord on the first string. The chord will sound the same for every bass note. This thing is very nice but it's not all. You can modify each bassdrums"s attack, volume, decay and pitch. Echo: The next synth is called tempo3. You have 1/4/3/6/9 seconds delays and all the synth is delayable. If you tap tempo3 with a synth trigger it will play a preset sequence on the drums. If you tap tempo3 with one of the synths trigger it will play a preset sequence on that synth. You have 4 differents rhythms for every synth. My favorite sound from this synth is the chords played on tempo3. Rimshot: The next one is a little boring and hard to describe but if you tap it with the synths trigger it will play 6 percussion patterns from it. Toms: The next one is called snare1. You can modify the snare1 using the LFO. Just set the LFO to 6 and start typing in the snare1 box. Kickmetoo: Kickmetoo is the last synth in the program and it's in the end. The first thing you will notice with kickmetoo is the drums played in pattern. So you can set the drum beat that way. You can also use it to play short chords on the bassdrums. If you type in 10 and 0 it will play a 16 chord. If you type in 11 and 1 it will play a 1-0 chord. If you type in 13 and 2 it will play a 2-1 chord. If you type in 14 and 3 it will play a 3-2 chord. If you type in 15 and 4 it will play a 4-3 chord. This synth also works with the snare1, tooms, bassdrums, snares and modems. And if you have this synth set to "Channel 1" it will play on the first channel. b7e8fdf5c8
