Tuning the structure of conjugated polymers by modulating solvent: new features, materials and applications. This Review looks at the most recent results in the field of conjugated polymer studies. An extended literature survey is presented in order to rationalize the current research and to highlight the importance of particular solvent combinations in the tuning of the properties of conjugated polymers. It is concluded that a new frontier in conjugated polymer research is the incorporation of ionic groups to gain control over the electrostatics of the materials. ### What's New In?

Q: Http post in a Android Application on an Ice Cream Sandwich vs. an Android 2.2 device Here is the situation: I made a web-service in Java SE, it receives the parameters and it returns a String. What I do now is to make a POST in PHP, I do a curl POST, I receive my String and then with Fiddler I do a GET to see what's inside my POST. My problem is: When I do this with a HttpClient POST request, it works fine in Android 2.2 (version is HONEYCOMB) but the POST method does not work on Ice Cream Sandwich (version is HONEYCOMB). Do I need something special for the post request in HONEYCOMB?
