The Humble Bundle is back with a second tier! You've gotten to experience such quality games as the XCOM franchise, the grand adventure behind the Civilization series and a bunch of old games from the past like Maniac Mansion and FTL: Faster Than Light! The Vampire, Queen of Chaos was also included just for $1, but she's gone out of stock, so if you want in on this deal, act quick! To make this entire bundle work, you have to be subscribed to the Humble Monthly Subscription service, which gives you access to new games every month for a very affordable price. Today's games are mostly games that are not available on Steam anymore, as the Humble Monthly Subscription games. Although you can pay what you wish to add more games to this bundle, there are enough games in total to require at least twice the payment than on any other single tier. The bundle is currently live, and will be available until next Wednesday the 29th of July at midnight CT. The packages containing the most requested game (XCOM: Enemy Unknown) is available with a $10 price tag, but there is also a special limited time offer for $0.50 ($2.50 for anyone else), which contains all the games. The offer ends on September 1st, after which you will no longer be able to download any of the games. If you're interested in the bundle, then dive in, because these games can't be unpacked from the service ever again! All games included in the bundle can be unlocked from the Humble Store. ABOUT THE HULU BUNDLE This bundle will include the full game along with DLC at a $30 total price tag.
