The serial entrepreneur, who has a close relationship with US President Donald Trump, said the president had "excellent instincts", adding: "North Korea has better weapons than we do. Why would you use them if you were insane?" Mr Musk commented on Mr Trump's recent threat to unleash "fire and fury like the world has never seen" on North Korea, Pyongyang's sworn enemy. Last week, the US president warned Pyongyang that it "won't be around much longer" if it continued to make threats. The intervention came just days after he declared that his threats to bomb the country was “fire and fury like the world has never seen”. The warning comes as tension between North Korea and the US continues to rise. 6d1f23a050
