
Sparta Ion Software Hack [NEW]

weve briefly discussed this sort of hacking with hacks in the past, so im bringing you up to speed with what you can do. like other projects of this sort, [gregory yoh] lets you build your own rfid key fob with two resplendent leds, his being for your nose. since theyre so simple, he uses just a low-cost arduino and has them blinking without a single line of code. the calmtrading app or safari browser is the best of both worlds with a very simple and clean user interface. the big part is the topic based and searchable topics. the only hard part for the average consumer is that they have to customize themselves to look and their own personal needs. but for hobbyists and serious users, this is a wonderful tool and i am very happy with it. if your iphone or android device is very sensitive to electromagnetic radiation, you have probably seen that apple and samsung have changed their devices to be more resistant to the harmful radiation from wifi and mobile phone networks. however, for the typical user who doesn't really need to be worried about this, you're still not completely shielded. siliconearbox is a nifty little device that will quickly turn off the wifi on your iphone or android when you are getting close to your network, helping to reduce some of these effects. but where do you go when you find a bad device? well, you can send it to suunto for repair. or, if that doesnt work, you can buy a used suunto watch. you can get lots of different models, from the spartan suunto one gold to the high-end suunto 701s. the best price is on ebay. you can also try nordisk watch for service on your suunto watch, but they will send you to toshiba or other dealers. the dealers can repair a lot of watches, but sometimes they will not be able to do anything. if you get a watch that has a defective electronic sub-assembly, you may have to replace it with a new suunto. the cheapest way to do that is to buy a suunto from an authorized dealer.
